

Around the town ...

*On the night of the blood
red moon*

■ The blood moon full eclipse took place on Sunday, May 15 between the hours of 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. There were many photographers out that night, braving the bugs and patiently shooting images of each stage of the event. Photographers H Wetzel, Matt Gutman and Marcy Shortuse were three of those photographers, and here are some of the shots they got.

Night bloomers ...

■ It's a little early in the year, but Peacock Lane on Little Gasparilla Island is hosting a slew of night-blooming cereus. These photos were taken by Raphaela Meyers.
