

THE BOCA BEACON AROUND THE WORLD

■ Boca Grander Terry Seitz travels the world for his furniture business and this time he's in at Volcano National Park, Rwanda, Africa. Terry said it was truly incredible. There were several times when gorillas came within 20 feet from where he was standing. Luckily, they just walked past him. Shown here, the "lead silverback" gorilla coming up the trail and stopping right next to him, as if to say hello. This was a truly amazing experience for Terry and another guest.

Rwanda, like most mountain villages, get lots of rain. Terry said that massive flooding and mudslides several weeks ago killed many in that area.
