BOGASCOPIES

Aries: Marmalade and big ice cubes are two things you'll find yourself contemplating this week. 3-21-4-19 Take time for yourself when you can, as the world has gotten particularly crazy lately. Small doses of clove oil are necessary as your throat will be extra dry and your stomach upset. A pen with orange clown hair will make your writing experiences even more joyful.

Taurus: Start a new routine this week to abolish a bad habit and eat a prune each morning in honor of your great-aunt Lulu. This was her favorite week of the year, after all. Elves with whiskbrooms will be scurrying around your pantry when the door is closed ... so keep it closed. Keep hand sanitizer on hand at all times on Thursday.

Gemini: A very sad, flat hoagie will try to get you down – just eat it and remember we're in a recession. The need to buy more socks becomes even more urgent, as an unexpected cleaning fit has you purging areas of the house you haven't seen in years. Beware the bent thumb-tack.

Cancer: At some point you will hear the song "Space Oddity" by David Bowie and remember that you read it here first. A thrifty band of rubber chickens will steal your wallet and refuse to give it back until you promise not to take another late-night trip to Target. When you get it back you will find that your Amazon card is missing. Something with feathers will catch your attention on Tuesday.

Leo: Carl Sagan once said, "Science is not only compatible with spirituality; it is a profound source of spirituality." Along those lines, remember to revisit that with your sister-in-law when she continues to bombard you with her reasons for believing that the world is flat. Put a piece of selenite in your pocket when you leave the house on Friday and don't forget to carry a spare pair of pants.

Virgo: A very chewy piece of cake leaves you with something to ponder. Positivity is hard to come by this week for you, but at least fake it when you're in the presence of a particular person on Wednesday. The urge to placate in lieu of perseverance is a problem with someone close to you. Examine your rationale for allowing the yard gnomes to restructure your back porch.

Libra: A person full of words will rain them upon you this week, possibly on Monday. Monday, 9-23-10-22 you will recall, isn't the best day to rain any sort of words upon you but grind your teeth and bear it. Your memorization of Poe's "The Raven" in fifth grade will pay off this week at a cocktail party.

Scorpio: In order to achieve a goal, you'll have to treat someone with a lot more respect than they deserve. 10-23-11-21 Choose cake donuts, not raised. While you have raised the art of procrastination to a very high level, there is something involving your neighbor's cat that needs to be addressed now. Smarmy politicians have you throwing items at your television.

Sagittarius: Holding space for your UPS driver is necessary this week. Upon encountering a small round box made of stone, do not open it. Choosing the blue pill over the red will unlock doors of perception that are vital to solving the riddle that has plagued you regarding your best friend's passion for arched doorways.

Capricorn: If you happen upon a tiger in your travels, do not ask him to make you buttermilk pancakes. Solidify a business partnership by licking the ankles of the CEO; though he may act like he's completely put off by the action, he will secretly love it. A copious amount of spinach in one sitting might cause some problems at the movies later that night.

Aquarius: Calling for help might be necessary this week, but don't feel bad. It will make the person who answers the call feel even more arrogant than they already did. A bag of pork rinds in your car will lead to hours of entertainment as you throw them to the crows while someone you're waiting for shops in Target.

Pisces: Porridge.
